

2013 OSLO BUSINESS FOR PEACE AWARDS

Searching for the world's most businessworthy leaders

The Oslo Business for Peace Awards aim to create a better union between business and society. Our goal is to inspire business leaders to be businessworthy; to have them apply their business energy with the purpose of creating economic value that also creates value for society.

Inspirational business leaders are identified by the global networks of the International Chamber of Commerce and the United Nations Development Program, in collaboration with the Business for Peace Foundation.

An independent award committee of Nobel Prize winners in Peace and Economics names the seven Honourees. The awards will be presented at a formal ceremony in Oslo City Hall on 14 May 2013.
