ICC ON DATA PROTECTION AND PRIVACY

Over the past decade, the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) has produced and promoted standardized, practical tools to help companies comply with cross-border data protection rules to better safeguard the personal data of individuals. The range of ICC tools available today helps verify compliance, streamline processes and save companies money.

Join us at this open forum for insights into the ways in which global business is contributing to policymaking and best practices on data protection and privacy, and learn more about ICC's role advancing accountability and assurance in international data flows.
