

2013 ICC MEDIATION WEEK

4th International Mediation Conference

7 February

8th International Commercial Mediation Competition

8–13 February

What is ICC Mediation Week?

Every year, ICC's Mediation Week features two "must attend" events in international commercial mediation, the International Mediation Conference and the International Commercial Mediation Competition.

During seven days, ICC welcomes over 600 participants who are eager to discuss new developments in alternative dispute resolution, analyse and share experiences and meet with colleagues from more than 40 countries.

We invite law firms, corporations and other organizations to partner with ICC and to become part of the 2013 ICC Mediation Week. Already supported by many of the world's leading law firms and multinational enterprises, there is no doubt that ICC Mediation Week is a valuable platform for international visibility and the "place to be" for practitioners and users of international mediation.

ICC Mediation Week enjoys worldwide media coverage, including articles published in media outlets as well as numerous ADR blogs, various related websites and newsletters.

Why partner with ICC?

- Increased visibility throughout the events and within the international ADR community
- Enhanced corporate image by aligning brand with the dispute resolution work of ICC
- Increased contact with ICC
- Worldwide recognition as a supporter of amicable dispute resolution
- Contact with young and ambitious members of today and tomorrow's dispute resolution arena and great recruitment possibilities

Partnering opportunities

ICC offers different levels of sponsorship, media partnership opportunities and corporate supporter packages for each event separately but also provides combined-event packages that allow sponsors to maximize their visibility and gains. All packages will be customized to meet your specific marketing objectives. Partnership agreements will be executed on a first-come, first-served basis.

“For the last few years KPMG has been a proud sponsor of the ICC International Commercial Mediation Competition. The quality of the event, the attention to details on the organization and the level of the participating professionals that sit on the judging panels or act as mediators, is simply remarkable. From a corporate point of view it's a privilege to support and help the ICC to promote the use of mediation ... Is KPMG considering supporting next year competition? Without a doubt!”
