Royal Tulip Hotel, Rio de Janeiro

More details to come

Objective

ICC is proud to host its fourth roundtable on competition policy and to provide business and agencies with a unique opportunity to engage directly in an open dialogue on current international competition issues. Senior officials from competition agencies worldwide will debate with business executives on topics that will improve the competition system and shape competition rules. The ICC roundtable is intended to be a high-level forum where participants can take part in an interactive and stimulating discussion and get insights directly from regulators and business experts.

Who should attend?

NGAs, business representatives, government officials, academics, and anyone wishing to have a genuine exchange with competition agency officials and private sector experts.
